Saw tooth

Our support graph looks like the cutting edge of a saw. Since we've been on home assignment that edge has been on a declining angle but it has finally "leveled" off. In other words, we are still losing some supporters but others are joining with us. Now we'll see if we can get that blade on an incline!

A New Work

It wasn't more than a day after we stepped off the plane our first time in PNG when we heard of Christian Leaders Training College (CLTC). After all, it is arguably the highest evangelical training center in the country. Over the years I joked with my students that maybe one day God would put me there as a teacher. To make a long story short, the Principal (i.e. President) and Dean of Studies (i.e. Academic Dean) encouraged us to

The new work God has for us is behind this sign; we can't wait to get there!

apply; the Executive Council (Board of Directors) looked at our applications and have asked me to finish my Master's degree with a view of serving on the faculty on a long-term basis!

The plan is to finish school in December of next year ('06) with all of our support in place.

Ambitious? Yes, but it is the course God has set and we are so excited! God is going to use us to train the future leaders of the church in PNG!

We Need Your Help!

It's amazing how God has planned this out. Master's programs are not cheap but God has strategically positioned us so that I can go to an acclaimed school at about half the price of other institutions. But, that still comes out to about $5,000 a year for tuition alone.. We are looking for people who would like to support us on a monthly basis for as long as I am in school, as well as one-time gifts to cover tuition.

If you feel that God would have you give, then just make a check out to "Pioneers," enclose a note with our name, and send it to Pioneers. You can also go to their web site and click on <Give> then <Give Now> and follow the instructions. Thank you so much!

Prayer Briefs:

Health & Strength!

Michelle has had no major health problems since her sinus surgery in February! Also, she is working to increase her endurance daily. She's doing great!

Intercession Necessity!

We need your prayers! At last count we had 164 Prayer Partners. If you'd like to join us then send us a note via snail mail or email.

Many Meetings

During the summer I plan to concentrate on reaching individual supporters through Sunday School and church meetings. There are dozens of churches around here and we want to show them what God is doing in PNG.
